REPORT

ON THE

TRADE CARRIED BY RAIL AND RIVER IN BENGAL

IN THE OFFICIAL YEAR 1901-02

SEASONS AND THE CROPS

THE general character of the seasons within the twelve months under review (1st April 1901 to 31st March 1902) was on the whole unfavourable for the bhadoi or rain crops. The rainfall in April exceeded the normal in the southern and eastern districts, but was in great defect in the northern districts and Bihar. In May, though general rain was received it was scanty, except in Bihar. In June there was abundant rain in eastern and parts of northern Bengal, but it was in marked defect elsewhere, and in July there was some deficiency over most of the Province. In August, Bihar and Chota Nagpur received good rain, but other parts had less than the normal quantity. The next month there was copious and general rain almost throughout the Province, but in October the rains ceased abruptly. The crops concerned within these months, excluding Jute and Indigo which will be noticed separately, were cultivated over an area of $12\frac{1}{2}$ million acres. The area was just below the average, though a little above that of the preceding year, and consisted as usual almost wholly of food crops, chiefly rice and maize. The total yield was estimated as 87 per cent of the normal, including the rice crop, the actual outturn of which was estimated at $45\frac{1}{2}$ million cwt of cleaned grain, against $44\frac{1}{2}$ in the preceding year.

The winter rice crop was sown over $28\frac{1}{2}$ million acres, an area which was a little larger than in the preceding year, but smaller than the estimated normal area by $1\frac{1}{2}$ million acres. The season was on the whole unfavourable particularly in Bihar, and resulted in a yield estimated at about $237\frac{1}{2}$ million cwt or 75 per cent. of the normal.

The season for the rabi or cold weather crops, opened with deficient moisture owing to the early termination of the monsoon. Sowings were consequently retarded and the area put under crops was contracted. At the end of November heavy showers benefited some districts, but the Christmas rains held off, and the rain in March came too late to be of benefit to any but the summer rice crop, which covered an area of less than half a million acres, or 95 per cent of the normal. The crops concerned, excluding wheat, oilseeds, and cotton, which will be noticed separately, were cultivated on an area of 9 million acres, a little below the area finally accepted for last year, and consisted as usual principally of cereals and pulses, barley, gram, summer rice, and tobacco. The total outturn was estimated at 75 per cent of the normal, compared with 79 per cent, the revised final estimate of the preceding year, and the yield of rice at $3\frac{1}{2}$ million cwt.

The area under Jute was over two million acres, or closely equal to the normal; the weather was exceptionally favourable in the latter part of the season, and the yield obtained was more than a full crop.

Indigo was grown on 318,200 acres against 360,600 acres in the preceding year, and the yield of dye was 29·25 per cent below the average.

Wheat was cultivated on $1\frac{1}{2}$ million acres, which was near the average: the crop suffered, however, from deficient rainfall, and the yield was 70 per cent of the normal.

Oilseeds suffered from a deficiency of rain especially in Bihar. The area sown was estimated to be below the normal and was much under four million acres. The yield in seeds was reckoned at 81 per cent of the normal.

Cotton (both early and late) was grown over an area of 120,500 acres compared with 127,700 acres in the preceding year, and gave a yield of 69 and 82 per cent of the normal for the early and late crops respectively.

The area under Sugarcane, which was 811,700 acres, was 96 per cent of the average. The outturn of gur was estimated at a little over 17 million cwt, which was about a million cwt better than the revised estimate of the preceding year. To the produce of the sugarcane should be added that of the date palm which in the year of report was estimated at over 2½ million cwt of gur.

In 1900-01 as a direct consequence of the unfavourable seasonal conditions, the prices of food grains generally in the several divisions ruled on the whole higher than usual, and large exports kept up prices. In the year under report, owing to the recurrence of unfavourable seasons there was a further rise in the price of common rice, gram, and maize, while the price of wheat cheapened very little. On the other hand the price of raw country sugar (gur) fell lower than it had been in the two preceding years, owing apparently in some measure to the competition of imported foreign sugar. Taking the rates which ruled at typical centres such as Dacca, Calcutta, Patna, and Pabna, the average of the food grains works out as follows:—

ABSTRACT OF THE TRADE

The total trade in merchandise (excluding treasure) carried by rail and river between Calcutta and Bengal, between Calcutta and other Provinces, and between Bengal and the other Provinces in the last three years is stated in the following table:—

		TRADE OF CALCUTTA WITH BENGAL		TRADE OF CALCUTTA WITH OTHER PROVINCES		TRADE OF BENGAL WITH OTHER PROVINCES, BUT NOT WITH CALCUTTA		TOTAL TRADE

As stated in the report for 1900-1901, the imports into Calcutta represent the convergence of the products of the country into the chief sea-port for shipment overseas, and the exports from Calcutta the distribution inland of goods received overseas, excepting in both cases the fraction consumed within the limits of the city. The figures therefore partially represent the maritime trade of the chief port which has as usual been reviewed by the Collector of Customs.

The value of the trade of Calcutta with Provinces other than Bengal is greater than the trade of Bengal with such Provinces by about nine crores of rupees.

In the following table are exhibited the proportionate shares of the Provinces which have the largest trade with Calcutta:—

	Imports into and exports from Calcutta	BASED ON QUANTITY			BASED ON VALUE

The principal articles which make up the imports into Calcutta from Bengal are, in the order of relative importance—raw jute, gunny-bags and cloth, rice, coal, linseed, opium, tea, grain and pulse, hides and skins, silk (raw and manufactured), and indigo; those which form the chief items of export from Calcutta to Bengal are cotton piece-goods (mostly European), salt, metals and manufactures of metals, railway plant and rolling-stock, sugar, cotton twist and yarn (European and Indian), and oils (chiefly rape and mustard, and cocoanut).

From the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh the imports into Calcutta are principally opium, oilseeds, gram and pulse, hides and skins, and wool manufactures; and the exports to those Provinces from Calcutta are mainly cotton piece-goods (mostly European), gunny bags and cloth, metals, and sugar.

Assam sends to Calcutta principally tea, oilseeds, grain and pulse, and stone and lime, and receives from it cotton piece-goods (European), metals and manufactures of metals, oils (mostly rape and mustard), and salt.

In the following table are exhibited the proportionate shares of the Provinces having the largest trade with Bengal, as well as the proportion which the trade of Calcutta with Bengal bears to such trade:—

The principal articles in the trade between Bengal and Calcutta have been mentioned.

The imports from the United Provinces consist principally, in the order of importance, of sugar, opium, oilseeds, cotton goods, and grain and pulse; and the exports to those Provinces are chiefly grain and pulse, coal, lac, kerosine oil, jute gunny-bags and cloth, and tobacco.

The imports from Assam into Bengal consist chiefly of rice, timber, and coal; and the principal exports to Assam are grain, kerosene oil, spices, and sugar.

In the exports to the Central Provinces the principal articles are grain and pulse, raw silk, and sugar; and the imports consist of railway plant and rolling-stock, and cotton manufactures (chiefly twist and yarn).

PRINCIPAL ARTICLES OF TRADE

The articles of the first importance in the trade carried by rail and river are cotton goods and grain and pulse.

Cotton Goods.—Calcutta is the largest supplier, and the despatches from it chiefly of European piece-goods increased in value from 1,381½ lakhs of rupees in 1900-01 to 1,555½ lakhs in 1901-02, about one-third going to the Bengal districts. The United Provinces are the next largest recipient, and the despatches to those provinces increased by nearly a hundred lakhs in value over the figures of the preceding year. Assam, which in 1900-01 was the third largest recipient fell back, and the despatches to the Panjab increased by over thirty-four lakhs. Of the total weight of cotton goods exported from Calcutta about one-fifth reached its destination by river.

Grain and Pulse.—The following figures represent the value of the trade, in lakhs of rupees:—

				1900-01	1901-02
Imports into—
Bengal	138	254
Calcutta	817	701
Exports from—
Bengal	1,164	712
Calcutta	150	162

The course of the trade in the former year was abnormal there being exceptionally large exports from Bengal to the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh and the Central Provinces for the relief of the distressed tracts, and the large exports to Calcutta were partly for the same purpose. In the latter year the flow was reversed, more grain being imported by rail and river from other provinces than was exported to them, and there were large imports of Burmese rice through Calcutta. The exports to Calcutta were also greatly reduced. It is noteworthy that of the total receipts of food grains into Calcutta quite as much is carried by boat as by rail, and that of the supplies into Bengal the share carried by boat is larger than by rail.

The articles which may be cited as next in order of importance are—jute (raw and manufactured), tea, oilseeds, coal and coke.

Jute, raw.—Excepting a small quantity despatched to the United Provinces, practically the whole recorded trade passes from Bengal to Calcutta, and the figures show a considerable increase in the last four years from 19½ million maunds in 1898-99 to 25½ in 1900-01 and 28½ in 1901-02. This does not include 1½ million maunds shipped from Chittagong to foreign countries in 1901-02 which reached that port in coasting vessels or by rail within the Dacca block.

Jute gunny-bags, and cloth.—The trade deals with the distribution of the manufactures of the several mills in Bengal. Large quantities are sent to Calcutta, the United Provinces, and the Panjab. The trade, after averaging more than one million maunds, received a set back in 1901-02 to 874,575. The reduction occurs in the quantity sent to Calcutta, but this seems inconsistent with the fact that the exports from Calcutta by sea were the highest ever recorded. The explanation (apart from the possibility of errors of registration) may be found partly at least in the fact that these figures do not include the productions of the mills within the trade block of Calcutta, nor the quantities that come into Calcutta by road.

Tea.—Until recently the trade consisted almost entirely of imports into Calcutta from Assam and Bengal, and has remained at about 2 million maunds in the last two years. In 1901-02 Assam tea to the value of 52½ lakhs was sent from that Province to Chittagong for shipment abroad.

Oilseeds.—The trade consists mainly of imports into Calcutta from Bengal and the United Provinces, principally linseed and rape and mustard, and increased from 9½ million maunds in 1900-01 to 11½ in 1901-02. Considerable quantities are also received into Bengal from the United Provinces, Calcutta, Panjab and Assam, and they increased from one to 1½ million maunds.

Coal and Coke.—This trade represents almost entirely the distribution of the output of the mines in Bengal, and the exports, after rising to nearly 95 million maunds in 1900-01, fell in 1901-02 owing chiefly to smaller despatches to Calcutta (73 instead of 78 million maunds as in the preceding year). On the other hand the quantities sent to other parts of India increased from below 17 to nearly 19 million maunds. The net result was a falling off of two million maunds in the despatches from Bengal.

The province also received considerable quantities by river chiefly from Assam and (as distribution of Bengal coal) from Calcutta, and the receipts increased from below 3 to above 3½ million maunds.

The articles which come next in order of importance are metals and manufactures of metals, oils, hides and skins, and indigo.

Metals and manufactures of metals.—Exports to the value of nearly 262 lakhs, which is nearly the figure of the preceding year, went from Calcutta chiefly to Bengal, the United Provinces and Assam, more than one-third of the whole trade being carried by river. In addition exports to the value of over 132 lakhs compared with 114½ lakhs in the preceding year, went from Bengal mostly to Calcutta and the United Provinces, a greater portion being carried by river than by rail. The chief sub-head is iron and steel, and the trade in these metals (2,059,731 maunds in 1900-01 and 2,745,421 maunds in 1901-02), consists chiefly in exports of wrought metal and manufactures to Bengal, Assam and the United Provinces. Bengal also sends cast, unwrought, and wrought iron and steel mostly to Calcutta: 480,324 and 383,403 maunds in the last two years.

Indigo.—The trade consists principally of the receipt of the dye into Calcutta from Bengal and the United Provinces. The contraction in the total quantities received has been continuous from 121,331 maunds in 1898-99 to 77,425 in 1901-02.

Hides and Skins.—This trade also consists mostly of imports into Calcutta from Bengal and the United Provinces. In the two preceding years when there was great mortality of cattle owing to drought and scarcity the quantities received into Calcutta amounted to 1,628,493 and 1,224,797 maunds. In 1901-1902 with the return of ordinary conditions the quantities naturally diminished, but the areas of the supplying tracts had been further depleted of cattle so that the receipts fell to 869,600 maunds.

Oils.—This trade is made up chiefly of exports from Calcutta, the total value of which after rising from over 86½ lakhs in 1899-1900, to 123 in 1900-01, receded in 1901-02 to 111 lakhs. The exports are mostly of rape and mustard oil to Bengal and Assam. On the other hand, Bengal despatched oils to the value of about 81 and 92 lakhs respectively in the last two years, consisting chiefly of kerosene oil from the depôt at Budge-Budge to Calcutta, the United Provinces and Assam.

Other articles in which there is a very large or valuable trade are opium, provisions, salt, silk, sugar, spices, and tobacco.

Opium.—There was a considerable decrease in the imports, particularly in the imports into Calcutta from the United Provinces.

Provisions.—The only important article specified under this comprehensive head is ghi, the trade in which consists chiefly in the import of the article into Calcutta, by much the larger portion coming from Provinces other than Bengal: the supplies are partly consumed in the city and partly exported by sea or distributed inland. The receipts into Calcutta increased from 71 lakhs of rupees in 1900-01 to 83 lakhs in 1901-02.

Salt.—The trade consists principally of exports from Calcutta of the supplies received by sea, and has varied thus (in maunds)—

	1899-1900	1900-01	1901-02
From Calcutta to Bengal ...	7,679,304	7,538,566	8,004,440
" " other Provinces ...	944,200	881,979	921,805

By much the larger portion of these supplies is distributed by river.

Silk, raw.—The trade has fluctuated in the last three years. The largest trade is in Indian raw silk despatched from Bengal to Calcutta and to other Provinces. The despatches to Calcutta, after falling off from 21,438 maunds in 1898-99 to 14,037 in 1900-01, rose again in 1901-02 to 21,029 maunds. The value of the exports to Calcutta was 107 lakhs and of that to other Provinces (chiefly the Central Provinces) 16½ lakhs. Bengal sends also Indian silk piece-goods to a large value to Calcutta and to other parts of India, but the trade has fallen from 45¾ lakhs in 1900-01 to 23 lakhs in 1901-02.

Sugar.—The figures have been as follows in the last three years, in maunds—(1) unrefined, (2) refined :—

		1899-1900		1900-1901		1901-1902

Imports represent the sugar made in the country; while exports (except probably a portion of the exports from Bengal to other provinces) consist practically of foreign sugar imported overseas and distributed inland. It is noticeable that whereas the trade in the country produce has remained on the whole stationary with a falling price, that in the foreign supplies has been increasing steadily and has quite doubled in the last four years.

Spices.—The chief articles are betel-nuts, chillies, cardamoms, ginger, and pepper. The ordinary destination of the exports from Bengal (96 lakhs of rupees) is Calcutta, Assam, and the United Provinces, and of the exports from Calcutta (81 lakhs of rupees) which are mostly imported by sea, Bengal and the United Provinces. A large share of the trade is river-borne.

Tobacco.—The trade consists mostly of the unmanufactured article exported from Bengal to Calcutta and to other Provinces. The total despatches from Bengal were valued at 34½ lakhs against 94 lakhs in the preceding year. About half the trade is carried by river.

INTERNAL DISTRIBUTION OF THE EXTERNAL TRADE

Tables III and IV exhibit the trade of other Provinces and Native States with the internal registration blocks or divisions of Bengal. The view of the trade of which the main features have been noticed in the preceding paragraphs is thus expanded by displaying the place of consumption of the imports and production of the exports. But as these tables give only the figures of the rail-borne trade this view is at the best very imperfect seeing that, of the total trade of Calcutta with Bengal and other Provinces, more than one-half, estimated by value, is carried by river, and the river-borne trade of Bengal with other Provinces (including the trade with Calcutta) exceeds one-third of its whole inland trade.

INTERNAL TRADE.

Table V, which is defective by the omission of the figures of the river-borne trade, exhibits the internal trade by rail between each registration block or division of Bengal. The totals were as follows in the last three years—in lakhs of maunds :—

The largest part of the produce imported into Calcutta by rail comes from the Western block (chiefly coal and coke and grain and pulse), Chota Nagpur (chiefly coal and coke), and Bihar (chiefly oilseeds, and grain and pulse). The Northern, Eastern and Dacca blocks also send large quantities of jute and some grain and pulso.

The imports into the Eastern block are principally coal and coke from the Western districts and Chota Nagpur; jute from the Dacca and Northern blocks; rice from the Northern and Western blocks; and salt, railway materials and piece-goods from Calcutta.

The Bihar block receives chiefly coal and coke from Chota Nagpur and the Western block; salt, piece-goods, and iron and steel from Calcutta; kerosine oil from Budge-Budge.

The Western block receives principally coal and timber from Chota Nagpur; grain, stone and lime and oilseeds from Bihar; and salt, piece-goods, wrought iron and steel, and sugar from Calcutta.

The exports from the Western block consist chiefly of coal and grain and pulse sent to Calcutta and coal to the Eastern block. Chota Nagpur exports principally coal and timber to Calcutta and the Eastern, Western and Bihar blocks. Bihar sends grain and pulse and oil-seeds chiefly to Calcutta. The articles most largely exported from Calcutta are salt, railway materials, piece-goods, sugar, wrought-iron and steel, oil-cake, and gunny-bags and cloth; from the Eastern block jute, grain and pulse, kerosene, railway materials and fodder; from the Northern block jute, grain and pulse, tobacco and tea; and from the Dacca block jute.
